

Viral Profits Speed Booster

My strategy is all about SYNERGY. We are going to hit your tiny content with multiple different types of promotion. That means traffic from: Facebook Promotion Groups, Facebook Classifieds, Classified Ads Sites, Social Bookmarking, Press Release Sites, and more.

When you use all these together, they can send a wave of traffic to your viral content. And these sites will keep sending traffic to your content for many months.

My strategy is a no-cost strategy. This is very important. I never want to see someone held back because of a lack of advertising budget. And even if you have an ad budget, I highly suggest you also include my free strategy in your advertising campaigns.

At the end of the PDF, I give you the paid options of advertising on Facebook, Twitter, and YouTube. All three can be very effective. But I suggest you start with all the free options in this PDF first.

1 - Fiverr Submitters

Hiring a Fiverr worker is inexpensive, and it will make this whole process a breeze for you. There's also another benefit: When you hire them, have them do the search engine submission promised in their gig. But also have them submit your site to every single resource in this PDF.

IMPORTANT: Send this PDF to your Fiverr worker!

That's right, simply send this PDF to your Fiverr worker. In addition, you will give them a little bit of advertising copy, an image, and the link to your site.

For example, let's say you've created a quiz about cooking. Here's your ad copy: "Do you have what it takes to be a top chef? Take the quiz and find out! ChefChallenge.com"

Also send your Fiverr worker an image that relates to your quiz. That could be a man in a chef's hat who looks confused, has baking powder on his face, etc. Choose an image that is funny, shocking, different, sexy, etc.

7 - Facebook Ads

If you have a few extra bucks to spend, I highly recommend you use paid advertising. You don't have to spend much, and you can get a big boost from a small ad spend.

Facebook ads are the most effective by far, when compared to Twitter ads or YouTube ads. It's pretty much guaranteed that Facebook will send traffic to your site. It's just a matter of making sure that your content converts that traffic.

My strategy is very simple: Get attention by making your ads fun, silly, extreme, human, unique. Always think about how you can give busy people a break from their stressful day with your content.

It's our job to create that fun break from a busy or boring day. That's how we open the door, and then build a relationship with a fan.

IMPORTANT: Always bring people back to your website!

We want to build a tribe, we don't want to build a tribe for Facebook, or Twitter, or YouTube. We want to build a tribe for us. That means we must get the email address of our fans. Once you have the email addresses, that tribe is truly yours.

8 - Twitter Ads

Twitter advertising can be very effective, especially for tiny content. One of the best things about Twitter is that it is filled with influencers. These are people who can share your content with millions of followers.

What we are doing is tailor made for these influencers. We are creating tiny, fun content. That's pretty much what Twitter is all about. But we are making sure we bring people back to our website so that we can grab their email address.

9 - YouTube Ads

YouTube ads are great if your tiny content is a short video. The initial boost a YouTube ad can give your video can be a life saver. And that boost can last many months, even after you've stopped advertising.

10 - Get More Help

If I could give you one last piece of advice, it would have to be this: Build a tribe! You must gather a tribe. You must stay connected with them. They must stay connected to you.

The tribe is the reason why you are creating content. Survey them. Ask them what they want. Give them what they want. And you will succeed. You will profit.

And they will profit too. They will get what they want. They will be a part of something positive. Something that makes them happy. Something good in their lives for the long term.

Never forget, and always remember: Ninety percent of success is just showing up. Just do it. Never quit. Keep moving forward. You will succeed!

Let me tell you a little secret. We regular folk have the upper hand when it comes to social media and viral content. We are not corporate spokesmen and spokeswomen. We are real people. And that's exactly what people want these days.

Genuine, real, human. That's what people seek out. Even if human means making mistakes, people still want it. We are the antidote to these very artificial times that we live in.

So, be real. Be raw. Be you. Take a chance and reveal yourself. You will get attention. You will gather a tribe. You will win. And I say Godspeed to you!
